

Here's some questions we frequently get asked:

How much does it cost?

There is no minimum purchase amount when painting during our regular business hours -only when a private group/party has been scheduled. We have many items in the $5-$25 range, plus some that are a bit more expensive. Please note that listed prices include all tools, glazes, and time needed to paint, but sales tax is not included on the listed price.

How long does it take to paint?

The time it takes varies from person to person and depends on the project. Younger children usually are done within half an hour, but a good average for many would be 2 hours. If you aren't able to finish during the first time you come, you are welcome to take it home and bring it back as many times as needed for you to finish it.

How many people can I bring in with me to paint? What ages are best?

We have limited seating available, so appreciate groups of 5 or less, as this number can all fit at one table. If you have a larger group, we recommend scheduling a private group. Painting is great for all ages! However, we recommend ages 4 and up, as any younger and they often don't have the attention span to complete a project.

How long until I get my pottery back?

We apply a clear coat of glaze to your pottery and then fire it in the kiln. This process takes about a week, so your pottery should be ready for pick up the following Saturday from when you painted. We do NOT call you when your pottery is ready for pick up. You must take it upon yourself to pick it up before it is thrown out. We cannot hold pottery that is not picked up longer then 4 weeks- so please come pick up your creations.

Where do I pick up my pottery?

If you come into the studio during our regular business hours, we can assist you in getting your pottery. Otherwise, if picking up when the studio is not open, you'll enter the front Senior Center door and take an immediate left around the corner into the pool room area. Immediately to the left is a small room with a Coke vending machine. Our pickup table is in there. Your pottery will have the name on it that was given to us at the time you painted (which will be what we wrote on your receipt).

Do you have a kiln I can use?

No, our kiln is for our own use, as we do not rent it out or let others use it. In the past, we allowed others to pay a firing fee, but it left us having to pay for repairs to the kiln due to issues left behind by others. This became too problematic and so we had to stop allowing it. We do not know of anyone to refer you to.

Do you have classes? Do we make our own pottery?

All our pottery is pre-made bisque that we order in. We do not actually make any pottery (thus we do not have clay or wheels). Our studio is come-and-go pottery painting. We are here to offer assistance and answer questions, but we normally don't teach classes, though we may occasionally have classes to show off a special project or technique.
